

Title: what's the simplest way you can explain wave management for someone that doesn't get it?

Score:

--- POST CONTENT ---

I'm an adc main and I honestly am a bit lost on wave management. sometimes when I watch cookie or saber they instantly look at lane and say "oh this is good for me" or "the wave is bad probably shouldn't base here" while in my games when the enemy is drag I spend 5 minutes thinking if I should be freezing or pushing lol

I have seen some videos on the topic but it just seems like a lot to get around in my head (yeah maybe I'm just dumb), so is there a way to simple way I can identify how to manage the wave and get the details later?

thanks!