It's a lot less about solo kills on mid lane the higher you climb. People play better and don't give you many opportunities to kill them. You become more like a support for the jungler. Be ready for invades, counter invades, gank lanes with him and be there for skirmishes. That's the best way to win as mid laner. You can't really 1v9 anymore unless people are really running it down and feeding you
