

Title: What I do if enemy darius knows about wave managment?

I am a gold player, I had faced darius many times in the past without any problems, he always pushed the wave over and over again allowing me to farm safely under the tower.

Now the problem is what if darius slowpush the first 3 waves and comes back with an item advantage, he can freeze the wave and the game is over, he always go with ghost in my games so I just cant get close to the wave (I only play melee champs, like sett, garen, malphite...)

Is there anything I can do? Should I be able to break the freeze by myself If I play it well?

I've watched games on hight elo to see how to deal with it but in those games darius tends to push the wave and he don't freeze more than a couple of waves when he could freeze longer as in my game.

So I literally have no idea what to do next time I am against him, any tips?
